

Conversion $

Building Your Article · By Simon Townsend · 1 min read

You must convert money figures so Australians understand values. It's no use telling your readers that something costs eight pounds or 2000 yen or 40 roubles or 100 euros, unless you convert it to Australian dollars. And use the WORDS for foreign currency not the signs, like for English pounds or for Japanese yen. So, write like this: In Tokyo a Big Mac costs 70 yen (A$3.50), while in London it costs four pounds (A$2.25). My conversions are not accurate but your conversions must be. Double check, please. For a free, up-to-the-minute, easy-to-use currency converter, log on to www.xe.com and use your calculator.

Reprinted from The Wonderful World of Journalism. Written in the spirit of Simon Townsend's journalism craft advice. Visit simontownsendjournalist.com for the full archive.